

2ND MAY 2016

WORKSHOP

2016 McDonnell International Scholars Academy Symposium

In September 2016 in Australia the McDonnell International Scholars Academy Symposium will bring together 30 premier partner universities united in addressing the world's most critical problems of the 21st century.

UQ's Three Minute Thesis (3MT®) was developed in 2008 and is now an internationally recognized research communication competition.

PhD and professional degree students from partner institutions attending the 2016 McDonnell Academy Symposium will be invited to participate in a 3MT® competition.

As a partner of the Washington University in St. Louis, UNICAMP is eager to involve its students in the contest.

Therefore a workshop will be offered on May 2nd with the purpose to give an overview and full explanation of what is necessary to participate in this academic challenge for those who have interest in presenting their thesis.

You can find more about the 3MT competition at <http://threeminutethesis.org/>

In the occasion graduate students (professional and PhD) of different areas, developing their respective projects at McDonnell partner institutions, will have the opportunity to be part of a 3MT Competition.
